| Main Language Focus | Identifying and using adverbs to describe how actions are performed.                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Integrated Skills   | Listening, Speaking, Reading and Writing                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Competency          | Uses English appropriately and accurately for communication.                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Competency Levels   | 6.5 – Uses adverbs appropriately in spoken and written communication.                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Teaching Techniques | Demonstration, guided questioning, Think–Pair–Share, discussion, matching, group work, individual practice, peer checking and teacher feedback.                                                                                       |
| Teaching Aids       | Annex 01 – Adverb Discovery Poster, Annex 02 – Group Adverb Challenge, Annex 03 – Individual Practice Worksheet, Annex 04 – Assessment Worksheet, Annex 05 – Homework Worksheet, action cards, picture cards, whiteboard and markers. |

Intended Learning Outcomes

| Component         | Details                                                                       |
|-------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ILO 1 (Knowledge) | Learners will be able to identify adverbs in simple spoken and written texts. |

|                           |                                                                                                                                                         |
|---------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ILO 2(Knowledge)   | Learners will be able to explain that adverbs describe or modify verbs by telling how an action is performed.                                    |
| ILO 3(Skill)       | Learners will be able to use appropriate adverbs to describe actions accurately in simple oral and written sentences.                                   |
| ILO 4(Attitude)    | Learners will demonstrate confidence, cooperation, and willingness to participate actively in pair and group activities while respecting others' ideas. |
| ILO 5(Performance) | Learners will independently identify suitable adverbs and construct meaningful sentences using them appropriately in communicative situations.          |

Assumed Prior Knowledge

| Component              | Details                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Prior Knowledge | Learners can identify common action verbs such as run, walk, read, write, sing, dance, jump, and talk . They can construct simple sentences using a subject and a verb. They are familiar with action words from previous lessons and can observe demonstrations, describe actions, and participate in pair and group discussions. |

Classroom Management Plan

| Component                   | Details                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

| Classroom Management | Learners will be seated in mixed-ability groups during collaborative activities to encourage peer learning and active participation. Pair discussion will be used during the guided discovery stage, while individual seating will be maintained during assessment. The teacher will monitor learners continuously, provide immediate support where needed, encourage equal participation, and reinforce classroom rules such as listening respectfully, taking turns to speak, cooperating with peers, and completing tasks responsibly. | Stage Aim                 | To activate learners' prior knowledge and enable them to discover that some words describe how actions are performed through observation, discussion, and guided questioning.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Teacher Activity          | The teacher greets the learners and performs two contrasting actions in front of the class, such as running fast and running slowly , without introducing the lesson topic. The teacher then repeats another pair of actions (e.g., walking quietly and walking noisily ) to reinforce the concept. Learners are encouraged to observe carefully. The teacher asks guiding questions such as " What did I do? ", " How did I run? ", " Did I run in the same way both times? ", and " Which words tell us how the action happened? " Learners first think individually and then discuss their answers with a partner (Think–Pair–Share). The teacher records learners' responses (e.g., fast, slowly, quietly, loudly ) on the board without explaining the grammar rule. Finally, the teacher asks, " What do these words tell us about the actions? " and introduces the lesson by saying, " Today we are going to discover words that describe how actions happen. These words are called adverbs. " |
| Learner Activity          | Learners observe the teacher's demonstrations carefully, identify the actions performed, discuss with a partner how each action was done, share their ideas with the class, and predict the lesson topic using the describing words they observed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Support for slow learners | The teacher demonstrates each action clearly and more than once, uses gestures and facial expressions, displays action picture cards if necessary, and provides a simple word bank (e.g.,                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

| Stage Aim        | To enable learners to discover the function of adverbs and identify how adverbs describe or modify verbs by explaining how an action is performed through observation, discussion, and guided questioning.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Teacher Activity | The teacher displays Annex 01 – Adverb Discovery Poster containing colourful pictures with simple sentence pairs such as " The boy runs. " and " The boy runs quickly. ", " The girl sings. " and " The girl sings beautifully. " Learners observe the pictures in pairs and compare each pair of sentences. The teacher asks guiding questions such as " What action is happening? ", " Which word tells us how the boy runs? ", " What changes when we add quickly? ", " Which word gives more information about the action? ", and " Does quickly describe the boy or the action? " Learners discuss their ideas with a partner and share them with the class. | ICQs / Assessment         | ICQs: • Are you comparing both sentences carefully? • Which word tells us how the action happens? • Does the adverb describe the person or the action? • Have you discussed your answer with your partner? Assessment for Learning: The teacher observes pair discussions, listens to learners' explanations, and checks whether learners can identify adverbs and explain their function before moving to the guided practice stage. |

| Stage Aim                 | To provide learners with opportunities to collaboratively identify and use appropriate adverbs to describe how actions are performed in meaningful communicative contexts.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Teacher Activity          | The teacher divides the class into four mixed-ability groups and distributes Annex 02 – Group Adverb Challenge to each group. The worksheet contains colourful pictures showing different actions (e.g., running, reading, singing, writing, eating, dancing and walking ) together with an adverb word bank. The teacher explains that each group should observe the pictures, discuss how each action is performed, select the most suitable adverb, and complete the sentences. After completing the worksheet, learners create two additional sentences using different verbs and suitable adverbs from their own ideas. The teacher moves around the classroom, monitors discussions, and asks guiding questions such as " Why did your group choose carefully? ", " Can another adverb fit this sentence? ", " Does this adverb tell us how the action is done? ", and " Is your sentence meaningful? " without providing direct answers. Each group presents two completed sentences and explains why they selected the adverbs. The teacher encourages peer feedback and briefly addresses any common errors. |
| Learner Activity          | Learners work collaboratively to observe the pictures, discuss how each action is performed, choose suitable adverbs, complete the worksheet, create two original sentences using adverbs, present their work to the class, listen to other groups' presentations, and compare their ideas respectfully.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Support for slow Learners | Learners are placed in mixed-ability groups for peer support. The teacher provides an adverb word bank (e.g., quickly, slowly, carefully, quietly, loudly, happily ), picture clues, and sentence starters such as " The boy runs... ", " The girl sings... ", and                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

| Stage Aim        | To assess learners' ability to independently identify and use appropriate adverbs to describe how actions are performed accurately in meaningful oral and written contexts.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Teacher Activity | The teacher distributes Annex 03 – Individual Practice Worksheet and explains the instructions by completing one example with the whole class. Learners are instructed to observe the pictures carefully, choose the most suitable adverb from the word bank, and complete the sentences independently. After completing the worksheet, learners write two original sentences using suitable adverbs to describe familiar actions (e.g., The girl sings beautifully. The boys ran quickly.). The teacher moves around the classroom, observes learners' work, and provides guidance through questions such as "What is the action in this sentence?", "Which word tells us how the action happens?", "Can you think of a more suitable |

| Stage Aim                 | To consolidate learners' understanding of adverbs by encouraging them to reflect on the lesson and confidently use adverbs to describe how actions are performed in meaningful communicative situations.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Teacher Activity          | The teacher displays Annex 01 – Adverb Discovery Poster again and conducts a short interactive activity called "Act and Describe." The teacher invites a few learners to perform simple actions such as walking, reading, writing, clapping, or jumping in different ways (e.g., slowly, quickly, carefully, quietly). The rest of the class observes and describes each action using complete sentences, such as "She is walking slowly." or "He is reading carefully." The teacher asks guiding questions such as "What is an adverb?", "What does an adverb tell us?", and "Can you use an adverb in a sentence?" The teacher summarises the lesson by highlighting that adverbs describe or modify verbs by telling how an action happens and encourages learners to use adverbs naturally in their daily speaking and writing. |
| Learner Activity          | Learners observe their classmates' actions, describe how the actions are performed using suitable adverbs, answer the teacher's questions, explain the function of adverbs in their own words, and create one original sentence using an adverb.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

Learners are instructed to observe five actions performed by people at home or in their surroundings (e.g., walking, cooking, reading, cleaning, singing ). They write one suitable adverb to describe how each action is performed and then write five complete sentences using those adverbs (e.g., My mother cooks carefully. My brother runs quickly. ). As an extension activity, learners choose one family member or friend and write three descriptive sentences explaining how that person usually performs different actions using suitable adverbs.
