Assumed Prior Knowledge

Component	Details
Prior Knowledge	Learners can read simple sentences and understand basic sentence meaning. They have some oral familiarity with questions and statements through classroom communication such as “What is your name?” and “My name is Kasun.”

Classroom Management Plan

Component	Details
Classroom Management	Learners will sit in pairs first and then work in four small groups. Clear instructions will be given before each task. The teacher will use short instruction-checking questions to make sure learners understand what to do. During pair and group work, the teacher will monitor closely, encourage quiet learners, support learners who need additional help and give quick feedback without discouraging learners.

Lesson Procedure

STAGE 1: Setting the Scene, Presentation and Guided Support (12 minutes)

Component	Details
Stage Aim	To create interest, activate prior knowledge and introduce the need for using question marks and full stops.
Teacher Activity	The teacher greets the learners warmly and displays a colorful Mystery Message Poster with four sentences without punctuation marks: “what is your name”, “my name is kasun”, “do you like mangoes”, “I like mangoes”. The teacher asks learners to read the sentences aloud and notice what is missing. The teacher reads the same sentences again using suitable intonation and guides learners to identify which sentences ask something and which sentences tell something. The teacher then introduces the lesson topic by saying that today they are going to learn how to use the question mark and the full stop correctly. The teacher displays the Punctuation Rule Chart and explains through examples from the Pupil’s Book: “She goes to the post office.” / “Does she go to the post office?” and “They are at home.” / “Are they at home?”
Learner Activity	Learners read the sentences on the poster, listen to the teacher’s intonation, identify questions and statements, answer the teacher’s questions and observe the rule chart and textbook examples.
Support for slow learners	Learners who need additional support may first answer with simple words such as “question” or “sentence”. The teacher accepts these responses and expands them into full answers. The rule chart remains visible on the board.
Interaction	T ↔ Ss / T ↔ Individual Ss
Materials	Annex 1 (Mystery Message Poster), Annex 2 (Punctuation Rule Chart), Pupil’s Book, Whiteboard and Marker.
ILOs	ILO 1, ILO 2, ILO 4

ICQs / Assessment	ICQs: “Are all these sentences the same?” “Which sentence asks something?” “Do we use a question mark for a question or a statement?” Assessment for Learning: The teacher observes learners’ responses and checks their initial understanding of questions and statements.
--------------------------	---

STAGE 2: Guided Pair Practice (10 minutes)

Component	Details
Stage Aim	To provide guided practice in choosing question marks and full stops.
Teacher Activity	The teacher distributes Annex 3 (Pair Practice Worksheet). Learners read each sentence carefully and decide whether it needs a question mark or a full stop. The teacher models the first item on the board by thinking aloud and eliciting the answer from learners before asking pairs to complete the remaining items. The teacher monitors pair discussions and provides guidance where necessary.
Learner Activity	Learners work in pairs, read the sentences, discuss whether each sentence is a question or a statement and insert the correct punctuation mark.
Support for Learners	Learners who need support may use the rule chart. The teacher prompts them with questions such as “Is someone asking something?” and “Is someone telling something?”
Interaction	Ss ↔ Ss / T ↔ Pairs
Materials	Annex 3 (Pair Practice Worksheet), Annex 2 (Punctuation Rule Chart), Whiteboard and Marker.
ILOs	ILO 1, ILO 2, ILO 3, ILO 4
ICQs / Assessment	ICQs: “Are you working alone or with your partner?” “Are you writing long answers or only punctuation marks?” “Will you use ? for questions?” Assessment as Learning: Learners discuss answers with their partner and correct mistakes while working.

STAGE 3: Group Production and Presentation (12 minutes)

Component	Details
Stage Aim	To enable learners to classify questions and statements collaboratively, justify their answers and apply correct punctuation marks accurately.
Teacher Activity	The teacher divides the class into groups of four and distributes Annex 4 (Punctuation Detective Cards). Learners read each sentence card, discuss whether it is a question or a statement, place each card in the correct Question Mark Zone or Full Stop Zone and add the correct punctuation mark. The teacher monitors each group, asks learners to justify their answers, encourages every learner to participate and invites each group to present two answers to the class.
Learner Activity	Learners work collaboratively, read the sentence cards in Annex 4, classify them into the correct zones, add the correct punctuation marks and explain the reasons for their answers during the group presentation.
Support for Learners	Group members may help one another before answering. Learners who need support may look at the rule chart and use prompts such as “Question means asking” and “Statement means telling”.
Interaction	Ss ↔ Ss / Group Work / T ↔ Groups
Materials	Annex 4 (Punctuation Detective Cards), Annex 2 (Punctuation Rule Chart).
ILOs	ILO 1, ILO 2, ILO 3, ILO 4
ICQs / Assessment	ICQs: “How many groups are there?” “What are the two columns?” “Do you need to explain your answer?” Assessment as Learning: The teacher observes learners' participation, classification skills, correct punctuation and ability to justify their answers during group discussion.

STAGE 4: Assessment and Evaluation (4 minutes)

Component	Details
Stage Aim	To check whether learners can use question marks and full stops independently.
Teacher Activity	The teacher distributes Annex 5 (Punctuation Champion Challenge) to each learner. Learners complete the activity individually. The teacher quickly checks learners' responses, elicits the correct answers from different learners and briefly discusses common errors with the whole class.
Learner Activity	Learners complete Annex 5 independently and listen to teacher feedback
Support for Learners	Learners who need support are guided through prompts after attempting the task: "Is it asking something?" "Is it telling something?"
Interaction	Individual Work / T ↔ Individual Ss
Materials	Annex 5 (Punctuation Champion Challenge), Whiteboard and Marker.
ILOs	ILO 1, ILO 2, ILO 3
ICQs / Assessment	ICQs: "Are you working alone now?" "How many sentences are there?" "Can you talk to your friend now?" Assessment of Learning: Teacher checks whether learners can select question marks and full stops accurately.

STAGE 5: Wrap-up and Follow-up (2 minutes)

Component	Details
Stage Aim	To summarize the lesson and extend learning beyond the classroom.
Teacher Activity	The teacher summarizes the lesson and distributes Annex 6 (My Family Interview Homework). The teacher explains how to write three questions and three statements about family members using correct punctuation marks.
Learner Activity	Learners listen to the summary, receive Annex 6 and complete it as homework.

Support for Learners	The teacher discusses one example question and one example statement from Annex 6 before learners complete the homework.
Interaction	T → Ss
Materials	Annex 6 (My Family Interview Homework), Whiteboard.
ILOs	ILO 5
ICQs / Assessment	Homework will be checked and discussed during the next lesson.

Teacher Reflection

Component	Details
Reflection	Pre-teaching Reflection I expect students to recognise the difference between statements and questions and use full stops and question marks accurately. I have planned learner-centred activities, pair work and group discussions to make punctuation meaningful and enjoyable. Additional support will be provided through visual aids and guided examples. By the end of the lesson, I hope students will confidently apply correct punctuation in their writing. Post-teaching Reflection

	Most students actively participated in the lesson and were able to identify and use the conjunction “and” correctly to join words and simple sentences. Pair work and group activities encouraged discussion, cooperation and meaningful language use. A few learners needed additional guidance when constructing complete sentences independently. Overall, the lesson objectives were successfully achieved. In future lessons, I will provide more differentiated practice and communicative activities to further strengthen learners’ confidence in using conjunctions accurately.
